Hon. Zoe Royer, MP, at Food Link Society

MP for Port Moody–Coquitlam, visited Food Link Society to see our food rescue and pollution prevention efforts

Food Link Society was delighted to host Zoe Royer, MP for Port Moody–Coquitlam, at our Tapestry Mundy Park Church Centre. During her visit, she learned about our food rescue efforts and witnessed how surplus food is carefully sorted, packed into hampers, and distributed to families who need it most. We sincerely appreciate her recognition of the vital role food rescue and pollution prevention play in strengthening our community.

APPRECIATE CINDY

At Food Link, we believe in the power of giving back and are proud to recognize those who do it wholeheartedly. We recently honoured Cindy Djohan-Sandong, a dedicated Metro Vancouver Housing volunteer who helps elderly residents access food when shopping is difficult. Her support not only eases their daily challenges but also allows them to save money for other essentials.

Strengthening Community Ties

On September 24, Food Link Society welcomed Corrie Clarkson, Member Experience Officer at Vancity Credit Union (Brunette Street, Coquitlam), for a tour of our community kitchen and programs. Corrie had the opportunity to see firsthand how Food Link rescues surplus food and transforms it into nutritious meals for the community.

Following her visit, Corrie recommended inviting Vancity's district managers to experience Food Link's operations in the coming weeks. This visit would provide an opportunity to showcase our impact and explore potential areas of collaboration that align with Vancity's commitment to community well-being and sustainability.
